

SKYPE AND FACE TIME

These days, we don't just call someone on the telephone and hear their voice, now we can "video" call them and see them, too! It's a great way to stay in touch.

EARN THIS NUGGET

To earn a nugget, video call four people on four different days. If possible, use two different methods of video calling.

TASK 1

But, with great resources, come great responsibilities. Here are a few guidelines for using video chat:

- Only contact someone you know well.
- Get your parent's permission before you call a person.
- Never accept a call from someone you don't know.
- Make sure you are dressed appropriately. Unlike a regular telephone, your friend or family member will see everything when you're video chatting.
- Make sure there is nothing around you that you wouldn't want someone to see. If you're planning to give your grandparent a surprise gift, you may want to make sure it's put away before you video-call him. If you don't want the other person to see an untidy room, make sure to clean up quickly.
- Let others in the house know that you are making a video call, especially if they may enter the room and interrupt your conversation.

Now have fun, and stay connected. Video calling can be a lot of fun, but it's important to be responsible.
